

Taylorsville Redwood • South City • Jordan • Miller

Grow

your own food. You plant, maintain, and harvest whatever crops you want. We water your plants, provide tools, and offer assistance and workshops.

Volunteer

with outdoor activities such as planting, weeding and harvesting as well as indoor activities such as graphic design and writing. Have fun while satisfying volunteer or service requirements.

Lead

a larger project such as improving irrigation, planning and designing additions to the gardens, and engineering high-tech indoor growing solutions.

Learn

more about cooking, food justice, and sustainability through hands-on experience. Faculty can sign up to have their classes work in or visit the garden. Clubs can sign up for service projects in the garden.

Contact us to get involved and learn more!

slccgardens.com

slccgardens@gmail.com

@slccgardens